PERSONAL STATEMENT

As a recent graduate with a 2:2 in Sports and Exercise Science, I am looking to utilise my excellent communication skills, IT skills, Leadership skills and Good organizational skills within a well-established Finance organisation. I believe that my written and verbal abilities, alongside my essay-based degree will prepare me for a role within this challenging and fast-paced industry.

EDUCATION

September 2014- July 2017

BSc SPORTS and EXERCISE SCIENCE Expected (2:2)

Manchester metropolitan University

Core Modules:

- Enhancing Professional Practice: The module was taught in order to get prepared for the working life upon completing the degree. One of the key aspect of the module was learning how to use a statistical software called SPSS, which allowed me to learn about breaking down numerical data to its nearest P value of 0.05 or 0.01 in order for me to get a significant data and explaining it in theory.

Dissertation:

- During my final year dissertation, I took part in a qualitative and quantitative Study looking at the adverse effect of lower extremity injuries in collegiate basketball players, specifically NCAA athletes. During the study I was required to research the numbers of players who have had serious injuries to their lower extremity and what was causing the injury, such as; Shoe type, take-off angle when jumping and take-off height. Results from different studies was then analysed using SPSS which allowed me to gain a P value close to 0.05.
